FIELD GUIDE

The answer structure

Strong answers are not longer. They are easier to follow and easier to believe.

01 CONTEXT

One or two sentences. What was happening?

02 RESPONSIBILITY

What were you personally responsible for?

03 ACTION

What did you actually do? Use specific verbs.

04 RESULT

What changed? Use evidence when you genuinely have it.

05 REFLECTION

What did you learn or what would you repeat?

FIELD GUIDE

Build your evidence bank

Before practicing questions, collect the raw material that makes your answers believable.

- [ ] A time you solved a difficult problem
- [ ] A time you improved something
- [ ] A mistake and what you changed afterward
- [ ] A disagreement or team conflict you handled
- [ ] A time you worked under pressure
- [ ] A time you took ownership without being asked
- [ ] A result you can support with a real number, outcome or observation

COPY / PASTE PROMPT

I am preparing for interviews. Ask me one question at a time to uncover 6 real work examples I can use. Do not write the stories for me. Push me for specific actions, decisions and evidence, and flag anything that sounds vague or invented.

FIELD GUIDE

Upgrade weak answers

Use this quick diagnostic before trying to sound more impressive.

TOO VAGUE

"I helped the team improve efficiency." FIX: Name what you changed and your role.

TOO GENERAL

"We delivered the project successfully." FIX: Separate your actions from the team result.

TOO PERFECT

No tension, mistakes or trade-offs. FIX: Add the real constraint or decision.

TOO LONG

Every detail gets equal weight. FIX: Keep only context, action and evidence that matter.

FIELD GUIDE

Pressure-question drill

Do not memorize perfect sentences. Practice thinking clearly under pressure.

- [ ] Tell me about a time you failed.
- [ ] Describe a conflict with a colleague.
- [ ] Why should we hire you?
- [ ] What is a weakness you are actively working on?
- [ ] Tell me about a decision you made with incomplete information.
- [ ] What would your previous manager say you need to improve?

COPY / PASTE PROMPT

Act as a demanding but fair interviewer for [role]. Ask me one difficult question at a time. After each answer, score me from 1-5 on clarity, credibility, specificity and relevance. Then give only the single highest-impact improvement before asking the next question.

FIELD GUIDE

The 60-second test

Before your interview, test every important story against these five signals.

- [ ] Can I explain the situation in under 15 seconds?
- [ ] Is my personal role obvious?
- [ ] Did I name the actual action I took?
- [ ] Is the result credible and supported?
- [ ] Does this story answer the question being asked?

Red flag

If an answer only works when you add impressive-sounding details you cannot verify, strip them out. Credibility beats decoration. Interviewers can probe specifics.

Fast rule

Specific > impressive. Relevant > complete. Real > polished.

FIELD GUIDE

Your prep card

Use this 10 minutes before the interview.

- [ ] Know the role's 3 most important requirements
- [ ] Have 4-6 real stories ready
- [ ] Prepare one failure / learning example
- [ ] Prepare one conflict example
- [ ] Know your salary range and reasoning
- [ ] Prepare 3 intelligent questions for the employer
